Foreword

Bewildered by an ever-changing world and yet hopeful of pursuing normal lives in the face of such world chaos, the Seniors close the pages on a chapter of their lives. This yearbook is an earnest endeavor to preserve for the Seniors the memory of their carefree high school years --- to depict for the underclassmen another year of progress toward a cherished goal.

As men and women it will be the duty of these youths to rebuild a shattered world into a land of peace and plenty, to create a haven of happiness out of a mire of desolation. Let theirs be the qualities of courage, understanding, and perseverance!

V Dedication V

WITH the shadow of aggressor legions lengthening across the world, a new figure arises, championing the cause of democracy and banishing the despondency and frustration of subjugated peoples. The American serviceman, assuming momentous tasks and vital duties, appears on the threshold of world conflict. He must—to insure success—bear willingly and dutifully the sacrifices, risks, and hardships which are and will be exacted from him.

It is to such valiant defenders of democracy that we, the Class of 1942, with deep and sincere respect and gratitude, dedicate this volume of THE LACKAWANNAN.

Prologue To Glory

PLUNGED abruptly from the normal pursuits of everyday life into the surging and chaotic stream of international strife, with what outlook would the American serviceman greet the tasks placed upon his shoulders? What could dispel his typically American attitude of complacent and lackadaisical optimism?

We have but to examine the record of character development and scholastic training of any American youth. His training was such that it imbued in him the admirable and requisite quality of performing his tasks conscientiously and dutifully and enabled him to cope capably with hardships without fretting or reluctance. These acquisitions, indirectly engendered by adept and competent teaching, prove the most important and most adaptable assets which the serviceman takes with him.

Preparing him even more completely for his militant duties were his scholastic assignments which acclimated him to the need for industrious and consistent application to work, while the lessons of teamwork and initiative accentuated the strength of these accomplishments. His extracurricular activities accustomed him to leadership, to discipline, and to order. His, indeed, was a well-rounded and balanced program, granting him the full exercise and development of abilities and indirectly adapting him to the tasks now occasioned by life under wartime conditions.

The application of this acquired training will invariably offset the cancerous and harmful growth of over-optimistic and indifferent attitudes. It will engender and cultivate an attitude of open-mindedness, supplementing all other inherent, praiseworthy qualities.

These same qualities and attributes generated by his education will serve the American soldier not only in wartime, but also in his postwar existence. As a citizen of a free world and armed with these same traits, he will aid in fostering the ideals and doctrines that are democracy.

THE CLASS of 1942 faces a turbulent world. I make this statement of an obvious fact not as one who "views with alarm" but because it provides a challenge. A world that is harsh and ugly is a challenge to the ingenuity of every young man and woman who must go forth from school to seek his living. When we admit that there are many things happening about us to make us despairing of the future, let us not forget that the so-called "good old days" were no better than these. Then as now there were wars and famine and pestilence. There was moreover an atmosphere darkened by ignorance and cruelty and needless pain. Today the improved condition of the wage-earner, the emphasis on social cruelty, the victories in public health, enlightened methods in education and the resolute attack on the slums are proof that there were those who refused to be disillusioned. The problems which confront us now are a challenge to the intelligence and the enthusiasm of young people. There is no need to surrender to an attitude of pessimism. No one yet ever solved a problem by turning away from it. Every step of progress that man has taken out of the darkness of ignorance has been achieved by those who saw the imperfection of the world about them and did something about it. Your teachers have tried to give you the moral, intellectual and physical equipment to aid you in contributing to human happiness while achieving your own. In this time of crisis your duty may well be to help in the fight for justice, freedom and democracy, and to make the world a better place in which to live. We are proud to know that the Lackawanna graduates who have preceded you are doing their share. The Class of 1942, I am sure, are now ready to

And So They Met

“ALL work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.” This would seem to exclude the possibility of Lackawanna High School students ever becoming dull, since work without play is far from their minds.

Extracurricular activities at the high school are rapidly being expanded with the addition of many new clubs. The older organizations have increased their activities, multiplied their membership, and gained more prominence in student life than ever before.

Two of the oldest organizations, the Orchestra and the Glee Club, owe their success to Miss Margaret Twist, whose zealous aid has spurred them to the heights of musical fame they now enjoy.

Another club that has shown consistent progress is the Library Club, which was organized in 1934 to acquaint its members with the value of the library in the pursuit of knowledge. This year, under the direction of Mrs. O'Donnell, the activities of the members have been expanded to include the care of books as well as their use. Aided by Mrs. Bermingham, the Lincoln Annex students followed suit in 1940 and formed a Library Club which today is flourishing at a greater pace than ever before.

Recently organized under the supervision of Mrs. Hawrylezak, the Portrait Club has already brought to light the many talented art students in our school.

Talent of a different variety is exhibited annually by the Junior Class at the Lincoln Annex. This year the Varsity Show hit an “all-high” record of praise and profits. The successful presentation of the comedy MISS SMARTY was directed by Miss Margaret Widmer and Mr. Raymond Burke, with histrionics amply provided by a competent cast.

Another annual presentation, the Spring Play, was given by the Senior Class, under the direction of Mr. Edward Smith. The light comedy, EVER SINCE EVE, topped all previous performances. It was well dramatized and the echoes of the audiences' laughter will linger for many years.

At the Lincoln Annex, the Entre Nous under Mrs. Annette Rhodes, has progressed tremendously since its organization. A similar French Club under Miss Elizabeth Nash was formed at the main building. Both were organized by the French students to increase their knowledge of and to promote an interest in French culture.

To give vent to their excess dramatic ability, a freshman English class organized the Annex Little Theatre Guild in 1938. The members have, since the club's formation, staged many noteworthy productions and have amassed a commendable record. Realizing the advantage of such a club, the Actor's Guild was formed at the main building in 1941 under the leadership of Mr. Nicholas Milano. To the student body of both buildings, these clubs have provided welcome interruptions in the course of the school year.

The Band, another organization that has provided opportunities for the geni of the student body, was formed eleven years ago by Mr. Walter Koch, who is still its director. Today, it is one of the outstanding organizations of our school.

The Commercial Club, directed by Mrs. McCann and Miss Dietrich, is another group boasting great progress since its advent in 1935. This year it has added to its social and educational activities a Christmas Party, a field trip, a picnic, and a successful sale of school pins.

Recently reorganized in 1941 under the leadership of Mr. Robert Hasler, the Camera Club fosters photographic interest among the students. This organization boasts a complete dark room furnished with all essential photographic equipment and supplies.

Showing enormous progress in their few years of existence, THE PARERGON and THE LACKAWANNAN reflect the efforts and energy of the student body. From a small newspaper in 1931, the former has grown into a first-class magazine. The winner of an All New York rating for three successive years, a first place rating in the St. Bonaventure competition for New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania newspapers, and a first place rating in national competition, THE PARERGON is justly our pride and the envy of other schools. THE LACKAWANNAN was first published in 1936. Although the first attempt was a small mimeographed publication, today it rates among the best of high school yearbooks.

This summation offers ample evidence that Lackawanna High School students have participated in many worthwhile activities—activities which has instilled into their characters the qualities of initiative and self-confidence and have aroused in them the heartening spirit of cooperation.

Coach of Football
STANLEY J. BUKATY

Coach Stanley Bukaty has always been considered "tops" by both the members of his athletic teams and by the students in his gym classes. This year that admiration was redoubled by the results of his work with our football team. Although the football team finished fourth in the standings of the Niagara Frontier League, its record is nonetheless remarkable considering the material with which the coach had to work. Likewise, his intramural sports program was about the best that Lackawanna has ever had. He instigated a bowling league, ping pong and badminton tournaments, a soft ball and volleyball league, and many other extracurricular activities.

It is the sincere wish of the students and the faculty of this school that next year will find Mr. Bukaty still continuing his remarkable string of successes with even better Lackawanna High School sports teams.

The success of this year's Lackawanna High School sports aggregations has been due no little to the sound, necessary instruction given to the members of these teams by John Novak, our assistant coach.

Assistant Coach
JOHN F. NOVAK

His task was to teach the new athletes the basic fundamentals of basketball and football, thus paving the way for future varsity teams. Having earned his letter at Notre Dame University, Assistant Coach Novak was in a position to instill into these boys that knowledge and information which makes championship teams. His task cut out for him, Coach Novak went about this work with his usual smile and good-natured personality, which seemed to inspire the players to greater ambitions and increased their willingness to cooperate to the utmost. Now, as we review the past football and basketball activities, we can readily see that his efforts were not in vain.

Sports in Review

FOOTBALL — BASKETBALL

Lackawanna's BLUE AND GRAY, though hard hit by graduation, started the '41 season with a slim chance of finishing near the top. This faint hope sprang from a general belief in the remarkable ability of Coach Bukaty to mould a group of "greenhorns" into a better-than-average football team. But, despite this and despite the pluck and fighting spirit of our boys, the team finished in fourth place in the Niagara Frontier League.

Led by Frank Javorski, our capable quarterback, the Steelmen won four games and lost three. Though this is not an enviable record, it does not tell the whole story. Our boys fought with every ounce of their strength. They believed in the old adage, "the game is never over until the final whistle is blown," and they clung tenaciously to this belief. Though they suffered a few setbacks, it must be remembered that even the Yankees have been beaten, and this is nothing of which to be ashamed. Our boys played like true Americans—hard, clean, and sportsmanlike—and to say that we are proud of them is a definite understatement. A team which shows the spirit and the will-to-win displayed by these boys is deserving of the highest praise.

Their work on the field of sport is exceeded only by the deeds of three of their teammates on the field of battle—Bob Elvey, bearing arms for Uncle Sam in the Army Air Corps, Chet Nabywaniec in the Navy, and Jack Winsick in the Marines. The Class of '42 is indeed proud of these three, whose courage in leaving behind friends, family, and home to join forces in democracy's titanic struggle exemplifies the patriotic spirit of Lackawanna's boys. Our hats are off to these valiant sons of Uncle Sam.

Sports in Review

The reins of the '41-'42 Lackawanna High School basketball team were placed in the capable hands of Del Fisher, our new basketball coach. Because the Lackawanna teams in the past had been outstanding in the St. Lawrence Basketball League, Del Fisher was expected to carry on the remarkable work of Stanley Bukaty and produce another championship group. Earnest and determined as he was, Coach Fisher could not perform a miracle. One obstacle he encountered was the lack of well-seasoned material with which to work. He had to mould his team, for the most part, from boys with little or no varsity experience. The players, too, had their difficulties in readjusting themselves from the system of playing as practiced by Mr. Bukaty to the system employed by Mr. Fisher. Nevertheless, he produced a well-balanced team which could cope with any foe and which must be commended for its fight and school spirit. Lackawanna made the fourth playoff position, and, although they won no championship title, the Lackawanna players proved their caliber by playing good, clean basketball throughout.

Paced by its co-captains, Benny Solar and Norbert Kulpinski, and high scoring Eddie Lubinski, the Lackawanna hardwood court representatives had several thrilling encounters of which they can well be proud, win or lose. The two Tonawanda engagements, in which two or three points meant the difference between victory and defeat, the 31 to 30 Kenmore triumph, and the well-executed playoff defeat handed the Trott team exemplified the indomitable spirit of our boys.

For their commendable spirit of fair play and courtesy, the Lackawanna High School team and student body were again awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy, for the fifth consecutive year. With the continuation of the same spirit of cooperation on the part of the team and the ever-increasing industriousness of the coach, it will not be our last trophy.

He has held a high place in the hearts of the student body of Lackawanna High School ever since that first day, three years ago, when he first entered our building as a member of the faculty. His ready smile and pleasing personality have won him the admiration and respect of all who know him. The fact that he is an excellent teacher and a capable master of ceremonies at our pep assemblies is further evidence of the justice of his appointment to the position of faculty manager of athletics. It is largely through his efforts, added to those of Mr. Boland, that, year after year, the Sportsmanship Trophy is won by Lackawanna High School.

So, to you, Mr. Edward Cosgrove, we extend our congratulations, with a fervent wish that you will continue your work here as you have done in the past.

Del Fisher, in replacing Stanley Bukaty as head basketball coach during the past year, has guided the destiny of the basketball team with commendable success. With but four returning lettermen and a handful of promising junior varsity men comprising his squad, the prospect of a successful season was indeed very slim. However, Coach Fisher, just as he had won the respect and admiration of the whole student body when first introduced at one of the basketball rallies, won the complete confidence of his team. They followed his instructions without question and soon developed into a smooth operating unit with but one thought in mind, sportsmanlike victory. The fine sportsmanship which has characterized Lackawanna athletics in the past was noticeably displayed once again by Del Fisher and his team.

Good work, Coach Fisher! The noteworthy results that you have attained are deserving of our unbounded admiration and praise.
